

FIVE HUNDRED DOL-
LARS PER DAY NEEDED

The finance committee of the Sikeston Chapter of the Red Cross desires to announce to the good citizens of Scott County that about fifteen hundred people are now being fed and housed at the various Scott County refugee camps and it requires five hundred dollars each day to feed these unfortunate folks. The finance committee needs funds and as the refugees will have to be taken care of for at least ten days or two weeks longer, it is hoped that the people of the County as a whole will help donate the funds necessary for carrying on this fine work.

We would like to suggest that if any of our farmer friends have any potatoes—sweet and Irish—meat or other foodstuffs that they would like to give to this worthy relief work, it will be highly appreciated.

The committee wishes to express their appreciation of the whole-hearted co-operation extended them in this noble work by the various clubs, societies and etc., and individuals of our sister cities and communities with whom we have talked.

We have been unable to call on each and every city and community in our county for funds to be expended in the alleviation of the distress of the Flood Refugees and as we are sure all desire to do their part we suggest that each community donate liberally to the end that the folks who are dependent upon us may be taken care of in the right way.

Some will contribute in cash, some will give cheque which have made payable to the Red Cross Relief. Be sure and get the name of each individual contributor to this fund, which information is not only for publication in our county papers, but for the permanent records of the American Red Cross Society.

Scott County has ever been foremost in deeds of valor; ever ready and willing to heed and give succor to the needy and distressed. In this unforeseen disaster she has lived up to tradition; she has heard the cry of the distressed mothers and fathers and children and she has risen with hands outstretched, contributing of her every resource in her sympathetic effort to reconcile and satisfy the grown-ups, appease the hunger of the children and silence the cries of the babe.

MORE FUNDS NEEDED. MORE FUNDS NEEDED.

Forward all cash contributions to the Sikeston Chapter of the Red Cross, Sikeston, Mo.

Deliver provisions and supplies to the Sikeston Fair Grounds.

SIKESTON CANNERY
FINALLY LOCATED

The Atkins-Sikeston Canning Company have purchased land at the southwest end of Sunset Addition, deeds and transfers made, and Col. Lange, who will be a resident manager of the plant is staking off the ground preparatory to placing the building that will receive the machinery.

It was first said the building of hollow tile to cost $4000, but the permanent building will not be erected until it is demonstrated the farmers will plant sufficient acreage to justify the outlay.

The long building on the Fair Grounds lately used as a dancing pavilion, will be moved to the new site and placed in position for a warehouse, and two of the barns will be moved to be used as the cannery proper. These two latter buildings will rest on concrete floors, will be screened and kept in a high sanitary condition.

A cannery factory is not always a very sightly building, hence the location at the extreme western limits of the city. The Missouri Pacific will place all switches and same will be used by the Frisco as well.

Every encouragement should be given this enterprise by the farmers as it is being backed by local people for especial benefit.

SIKESTON, SCOTT COUNTY, MISSOURI FRIDAY MORNING, APRIL 29, 1927

SOUTHEAST MISSOURI
CONDITIONS IMPROVED

There is not much change in the flood situation in this section from what we printed Tuesday. The water is going down slowly from St. Louis to below the Missouri line. Transfer boats are taking traffic from Birds Point to Cairo, the Missouri Pacific in Southeast Missouri are all in operation. Thursday a through passenger and mail train came in from St. Louis going south to Memphis. The east and west highway from Birds Point to Springfield is open, as is the north and south road from Sikeston to St. Louis. It is believed the road will be open to New Madrid in another week.

With all the hardships experienced by our near neighbor to the south, they have had nothing to contend with to what they are enduring in Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana. At McGehee, Ark., the city is covered from 2 to 20 feet with water, as is all the Big Lake and St. Francis River drainage area. Many lives have been lost to the south and the loss in property cannot be estimated at this time.

Sikeston and Scott County have done and will do their part to succor those who are with us in the Sikeston Red Cross Camp. Up to Wednesday evening the cash contributed amounted to $3,971.18. Thursday morning several hundred dollars more have been received, $100 from the Hugh Stephens Printing Co., Jefferson City, with a like sum from Benton with more to come.

The Frisco Railroad gave a carload of coal, Chaffee another truck load of cloths, Mrs. H. J. Morrison, Poplar Bluff, $10; First Baptist church, Morehouse, wood; Mrs. W. R. Irwin, Gillespie, Ill., clothes.

These unfortunates will be with us for some time to come and everyone in the community who is working should give a cash donation. Leave the cash with The Bijou, Dudleys, the Chamber of Commerce, John A. Young, or either of the banks.

The response to the Red Cross appeals from all over the United States has been wonderful which shows that God reigns supreme and touches the hearts of our fellowman.

A. J. BEVERIDGE DIES
SUDDENLY AT HIS HOME

Indianapolis, Ind., April 27.—Albert Jeremiah Beveridge, former United States Senator from Indiana, died suddenly here today.

Mr. Beveridge was twice elected to the Senate from Indiana. He retired from the Senate in 1911 and twice sought to return, but was defeated in 1914 as the Progressive Party candidate and in 1922 was defeated by Samuel M. Ralston, Democrat.

Death came this morning at his home here. He has been working here for some time upon his latest book, "The Life of Abraham Lincoln".

The former Senator's health has not been the best for several months, but his condition was not regarded as serious. His death occurred at 6:45 o'clock this morning. It came as a shock to close associates, who said there was no intimation yesterday that his condition was in any way critical.

One of the pioneer exponents of the direct election of all public officials, Beveridge consistently was unsuccessful as a candidate under the system.

Twice he attained membership in the United States Senate from Indiana through election by the state legislature and twice he was rejected as an aspirant for the same place by popular referendum.

In 1922, Beveridge was defeated as the Progressive candidate for governor of Indiana.

Beveridge's prominence was as firmly fixed in his literary career and in his ability as an orator, as in his statesmanship. His "Life of John Marshall", is regarded as the most illuminating exposition of the first chief justice of the United States Supreme Court.

The season is late for the planting of large acreages and the farmer should put in the ground the crops that will give him a sure and safe return. Corn acreage will be large without a doubt, but the price will not justify expensive help to secure record acreage. Soybeans and peas for forage is a safe crop without expensive labor and stock will need the hay. Not being a farmer of experience, we can only speak from observation, but wish to call the attention of cotton raisers to the article printed in the Tuesday's issue from Harris Draughon about the cotton that will bring the high price. To us, his idea is sound and should be followed. It will require no more help to produce quality in cotton that will sell for a premium, than just cotton which is now a drag on the market.

While the National Guard was patrolling the levee in the Drinkwater section, T. A. Wilson, Arnold Roth and James Matthews of Sikeston were sent with a message. It was after night, cold, wet and tiresome going. They sat down on the high spots to rest, when from out of darkness came the words: "Halt, who goes there? Advance and show pass." T. advanced up close to the end of the bayonet, informed the guard who he was, where he was going, etc., but had no pass. The guard ordered the three to proceed before him to a nearby shack, where an officer was stationed. The officer permitted them to proceed to their destination, where, after their 14 mile hike, they called for a highway truck to take them back to civilization. The guard was from Bernie and performed his duty satisfactorily.

An organization of business men of large interests have been investigating the farm situation. It finds agriculture in deep distress, but a disagreement among farmers about what should be done. Any country editor could have handed out this information and saved those city fellers the trouble and expense of a long journey. Farmers not only disagree about what should be done, but most of them object to doing anything at all.—Paris Appeal.

The Democratic Press Association of Missouri met in Kansas City Wednesday of last week. A grand total of eight Democratic editors attended. Quite a contrast to turn-outs that organization used to have. Democratic editors generally don't care to go on record endorsing Reed for President and didn't care to start a fight.

We can think of no irony more devastating than the spectacle of an ignorant and illiterate school teacher. Yet the woods are full of them, men and girls who never read, who can't speak fifty words of correct English, who are without either imagination or personality, and who are devoid of those refinements which should be the chief part of a child's schooling. Culture and scholarship were once the chief requisites of a teacher. Noise and bunk have been substituted.—Paris Mercury.

NOTICE AUTOMOBILE OPERA-
ATORS AND CHAUFFEURS

According to the report of the State Auto Commission there are several people in this jurisdiction who have not procured license to operate motor vehicles. Some who do not understand the law and do not know they are required under the statute to procure license.

For the benefit of those who are required under the law to have a license to operate motor vehicles, I am giving below the law that applies to the above.

Motor vehicle laws, 1921. Section 3. Definitions:

Chaufeur: An operator who operates a motor vehicle in the transportation of persons or property, and who receives compensation for such service in wages, salary, commission or fare. Or who as owner or employee operates a motor vehicle carrying passengers or property for hire.

Registered Operator: An operator, other than a chauffeur, who regularly operates a motor vehicle of another person in the course of, or as an incident to his employment, but whose principal occupation is not the operation of said motor vehicle.

Section 8, article c: All chauffeurs are required to wear the badge furnished by the State in some conspicuous place on the clothing of the operator or chauffeur.

All persons who come under the above requirements are required to renew their license by the first day of February of each year. The smallest penalty is $5 and costs.

BOYS' AND GIRL'S TRACK
MEET AT SIKESTON

What is thought to be one of the best and biggest boys' and girls' track meet ever scheduled in Sikeston, will be held next Friday afternoon at the Fair Grounds.

This is the sixth annual event of this kind in Sikeston, and there promises to be a great deal of keen competition among the teams, the girls' division being the largest in the State.

Seven towns besides Sikeston, have entered their teams, so far, namely, Poplar Bluff, Jackson, Cape Girardeau, Caruthersville, Hayti, Malden and Charleston. Poplar Bluff, Hayti, Malden and Charleston will each bring a girls' team to compete with the Sikeston girls.

A few of the big features of the meet will be Neville of Cape, who made the record in high jump, at 5 feet, 9 1/4 inches, last Friday at the Cape Girardeau meet, Brase of Jackson, who won the 100-yd. and 220-yd. dash, and Putz of Jackson, who shattered the former record by throwing the javelin 169 feet.

Cantrell and Baker, of Sikeston, made a splendid showing last Friday, Cantrell taking first place in shot put and Baker placing third in the 220, and 4th in the 100-yd. dash.

Very little is known of the girls' teams of the various towns, but the Sikeston girls under the coaching of Miss Prior, have been practicing strenuously and are confident of quite a number of first and second places, in the forthcoming meet.

In the girls' division, a Poplar Bluff girl, a Miss De Long from Malden and a few others, including one of the Sikeston girls, will show real class.

Six cups will be awarded, one to the winners of each of the two boys' relays, one to the winner of the girls' relay and one to the girls' team, making the most points throughout the meet. Cups will be given to the individual girl and boy having the most number of points to his credit.

Medals will also be awarded to the winners of first, second and third places.

SURPRISE PARTY FOR
MRS. JOS. A. RUBENSTEIN

Mrs. J. A. Rubenstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sarsar, will return to Memphis, Tenn., to join her husband and make their home. In honor of her departure, Mrs. I. Becker gave a party at her home Friday evening last. Those present were: Mrs. H. Lampert, Mrs. Joe Sarsar, Mrs. Rubenstein, Mrs. Carroll Meyer, Mrs. Jake Goldstein, Mrs. Schneider, Mrs. N. Yoffee. Mrs. Becker was assisted by her daughter, Miss Fannie Becker.

On Tuesday evening Mrs. H. Lampert gave a six o'clock dinner in honor of Mrs. Rubenstein's going-away. On this occasion the editor of The Standard was honored with being one of the two men folk present, the other being William Borowsky, of Manilla, Ark., brother of Mrs. I. Becker. The dining room was beautifully decorated with ferns and tulips, while the large circular dining table was a dream, the centerpiece being a large cake baked and decorated especially for the occasion. Ferns, tulips and hand-painted place cards finished the table decoration. At each plate was placed the following verse:

Sweet thoughts you bear away with you,
Dear memories of the happy past,
And though now we whisper,
fare-thee-well,
Yet we know we shall meet again at last.

A very splendid repast was served the following guests: Mrs. J. A. Rubenstein, Mrs. Joe Sarsar, Mrs. J. Goldstein, Mrs. I. Becker, Mrs. Carroll Meyer, Mrs. N. Yoffee, Mrs. L. Wagner and Miss Jeanette Wagner of Dexter, Miss Fannie Becker, William Borowsky of Manilla, Ark., and C. L. Blanton. Mrs. Lampert was assisted by her sister, Mrs. Wagner of Dexter.

Many useful presents for a young housekeeper were presented to Mrs. Rubenstein, both at Mrs. Becker's and at Mrs. Lambert's. In fact, both of these were surprise parties to Mrs. Rubenstein.

ILLINOIS HOUSE, DRY
FOR YEARS, VOTES TO
ANNUAL VOLSTEAD ACT

Springfield, Ill., April 26.—The Illinois House of Representatives controlled by "dry" for many years turned to a wet organization today, when it adopted a resolution calling upon the Congress of the United States to call a constitutional convention to knock out the eighteenth amendment. The vote was 74 to 68, and came after a long debate in which drys and wets participated.

"Wets" were jubilant over their victory in the lower branch, but were not so sure of their ground when the resolution sponsored by Representative Leroy Green of Rockford gets to the Senate, which for years has been classed as "bone dry". The resolution has the endorsement of the association opposed to prohibition, but Nevada is the only state in the Union which has adopted it in both branches of the assembly.

While "wets" are claiming a signal victory and see the end of the control of the Anti-saloon League in the House, several members who have been classed as "dripping wet" frowned on the resolution on the ground that it would open the way for a general attack upon the Federal Constitution. "Drys", as a general rule, stood firm against the resolution, but were outvoted.

The resolution was called by Green, who urged its adoption on the ground that the eighteenth amendment, a war measure, became effective while thousands of men were in the trenches. He said its enactment opened the way for graft in the enforcement of its regulations and had caused endless crime and the downfall of the young. Representative Elmer Shnackenberg, Chicago, opposed the resolution, not from the standpoint of wet or dry, but because the calling of a Federal Constitution would open the way for a general attack upon the basic law of the land.

The same view is expressed by Representative Lee O'Neill Browne, who voted in the negative. Representative Truman A. Snell, Carlinville, saw in the adoption of the measure an undermining of the Constitution. He also said he did not believe the people of Illinois wished to be in the front ranks of the nation for such an amendment, when it was the twenty-sixth state in the union to ratify the prohibition amendment. He pointed to hard roads, better schools and other advancement as "some day the liquor question will be settled and settled right". Snell said "and we will be proud of every vote cast against alcohol".

The question of members voting dry and taking a drink when the occasion presented itself was injected into the debate as the roll call proceeded before a crowded gallery. A large number of members expressed themselves, some charging that the prohibition amendment has opened the way to graft in departments of the government.

Among those who debated the bill were: Representatives S. B. Turner, Chicago; M. P. Rice, Lewistown; Elbert Waller, Tamaroa, on behalf of the schools; William F. Propper, Chicago; Arthur Roe, Vandalia, who voted present, and Roy Juul, Chicago.

Representative Emil A. W. Johnson, Chicago, who voted in the negative on roll call, changed his vote to aye, with the statement that his district was against prohibition when the proposition was submitted a few years ago.

"We are not so sure of our ground in the Senate", said Representative Green after the roll call had been announced. "The vote today here shows the House to be wet and in the Senate we will be able to get members on record and give the organization an opportunity to elect members who are in favor of our cause".

The resolution now goes to the Senate for final consideration, where it probably will be defeated. "Wets" of the House, while admitting that the test vote was not based on the question of alcohol alone, believe they will be able to muster a sufficient number of votes to pass the bill for a repeal of the search and seizure law in Illinois.

ECONOMIZE OR QUIT
BAKER WARNS STATE
DEPARTMENT HEADS

Jefferson City, April 26.—Gov. Baker sent a letter to all his appointees and department and institution heads today virtually telling them to practice economy, keep their expenditures within the appropriations which he approved, or resign.

He attached to each of the letters a list of items which he had either vetoed or withheld in approving appropriations for the particular department. Strenuous efforts, he pointed out, had been made to get sufficient revenue to run the state, but without avail. This makes it incumbent, he said, upon every department and institution head and every official to make a desperate effort to hold down expenses.

After telling his appointees and others affected that if they felt they could not practice the economy made necessary by the limited state funds that it would "be a splendid time to resign and let me appoint someone in the place who can", he added. He hoped they would take this suggestion "in the right spirit".

The Governor said the Legislature had overappropriated the revenues by approximately $5,000,000, and that he had "trimmed" the excess down to about $300,000. The total amount of the state's funds for the biennial period of 1927 and 1928, exclusive of the school's one-third, is about $14,500,000.

The Governor's letter to his appointees and department heads follows:

"Attached you will find a list of items vetoed and held up as they appear in the various appropriation bills affecting your institution:

"The Governor does not, in any sense of the word, wish to be considered a dictator, but he has made a strenuous effort to get sufficient revenue to run the state. We have been unable to do so. Your appropriations, and the enclosed shows, with the holdups should be considered as all the revenue that you will get for the biennial period.

"The reason that we have made more holdups than vetoes is that we wanted to be in a position, in case of an emergency that we could release some funds, even at the risk of running a deficiency, but I feel that inasmuch as there is such a shortage of revenue, all appointees of the Governor and those interested in the welfare of the administration should make a desperate effort to get along on the amount of money allotted, and if at all possible save something out of the amount.

"The Legislature overappropriated approximately $5,000,000. I was unable to prune the full amount, but have come within $300,000 of the estimated revenue.

"If any appointee of the Governor feels that he cannot practice the economy made necessary by the limited funds allotted, this would be a splendid time to resign and let us appoint someone in the place who can. I am sure you will take this in the right spirit. The same letter is being sent to all heads of departments, institutions, bureaus and boards. I expect to practice this economy in my own office and have begun by cutting out one clerk. I shall probably cut out another within the next few months".

I READ IN THE PAPERS—

From the diary of a prominent Philadelphia merchant of a century ago, comes this excerpt anent early prohibition propaganda. The diary is being reprinted daily in the Public Ledger: 'Wednesday, January 15, 1845.

'In the Afternoon I went to hear a celebrated Temperance Lecturer, named J. B. Gough, who addressed a vast assemblage at the Presbyterian Church Dr. McDowell's) at the corner of 8th and Cherry Sts.

I could hardly obtain even standing room, but got a place where I could both see and hear him, in the Gallery.

He is a young man, of about 24 years of age, with a thin countenance and pale complexion, and of a sanguine temperament. His style of speaking is florid, and his words flow out in a continued stream, without much break; while his action is energetic and sometimes fit and beautiful; but his matter was mostly about himself, and his own experience, and did not contain anything new, or even old truths beautifully illustrated. I did not therefore consider him pre-eminent as a public speaker.'

Condemning the Charleston as a barbaric dance, an American missionary in South Africa says that he has seen it danced by savages in the African jungle. That is no more unlikely than the claim that the new Black Bottom dance, which has recently come to London from America, may be seen by negroes on the banks of the Mississippi when they wipe the black mud of the river bed from their feet.

The white man dances for the fun of it, savages usually dance with some serious object, apart from the natural exhilaration which they, like us, get out of dancing. A kind of savage Charleston, known as lambo in tutu, for instance, is danced by old women of the Iramba tribe, who live on the Daua Plateau in Tanganyika, to celebrate the birth of twins. This dance which only the grandmothers of the twins (grand-aunts and cousins being included in that description) may take part in, and which the old ladies will keep up from one dawn to the next without fatigue, is really a motion-play of the newly born twins' future lives. Before the dance starts offerings are made to the tribal sun god, Munankali, to invoke the deity's blessing on the twins.

In the dance each old woman carries some domestic utensil, such as a vegetable ladle, or some hunter's equipment, such as a spear, while around their heads are bound coronets of zebra mane. With these articles the grandmothers symbolize how the boy-twin shall grow up a strong-hearted warrior and hunter; how the girl-twin shall prove a good wife, dexterous with the hut cleaning and cunning with the ladle.

Wonderful effects, ranging from a lullaby murmur to a howling wail, from an exhilarating tattoo to a blood-curdling growl, are produced from the drums by no other means than the woman player's hotspur, according to a sophomore, "was a wild, irresolute man. He loved honor above all. He would go out and kill twenty Scotchmen before breakfast".

This savage Charleston has all the steps and measures of our European dance of that name, and it is thoroughly enjoyed by those who dance it as well as by the huge crowd of women and warriors who gather to watch it.

As we have refreshments during intervals of dancing, so savages enjoy honey-wine, grain-beer, and a kind of malt-up known as migai. The men sit in one group, drinking and yarning. The women in another group gossip as women love to, and for the amusement of the unmarried girls, a delightful interlude which would disgrace no London concert hall is provided by a kiggle player, who plays on a primitive five-note piccolo sweet melodies which mimic the voices of lovers so exquisitely that the poorest imagination could not fail to fit words to the meaning of the music.

The girls dance minuette to the kiggle music; while for the entertainment of the more sober-minded married women, the musician imitates very accurately on his pipe the angry notes of a matrimonial squabble.

Fulahn.—London Sphere, Feb. 5, 1927.

In the second series of the William E. Harmon Awards, the sum of $4,000 is offered in recognition of outstanding accomplishments among negroes, who are thereby given another incentive to creative work in music, fine arts, the sciences, business organization and religious work. The results of the first year of the series just closed were regarded as most encouraging in that such talent was discovered as that of Palmer C. Hayden, an artist whose paintings were executed in a small room in New York's Greenwich Village in the free hours he had from his work as a housecleaner; James C. Evans, a former student of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, whose findings in radio were considered valuable contributions to the science, and others who gave constructively to various fields of endeavor.

Poetry, short story, essay, book, newspaper editorial or play, all of which, except for the manuscript of a book must have been previously published, is the type of material that may be entered for the award in literature. The field of music includes song scores, instrumental scores for single instruments or ensemble, oratorios and operas. Painting, sculpture, drawing, engraving, modeling or architecture are possible for nominations for the award in fine arts. The field of business, including industry, covers creative achievements in agriculture, manufacturing, mechanical and commercial enterprises.

The white man dances for the fun of it, savages usually dance with some serious object, apart from the natural exhilaration which they, like us, get out of dancing. A kind of savage Charleston, known as lambo in tutu, for instance, is danced by old women of the Iramba tribe, who live on the Daua Plateau in Tanganyika, to celebrate the birth of twins. This dance which only the grandmothers of the twins (grand-aunts and cousins being included in that description) may take part in, and which the old ladies will keep up from one dawn to the next without fatigue, is really a motion-play of the newly born twins' future lives. Before the dance starts offerings are made to the tribal sun god, Munankali, to invoke the deity's blessing on the twins.

In the dance each old woman carries some domestic utensil, such as a vegetable ladle, or some hunter's equipment, such as a spear, while around their heads are bound coronets of zebra mane. With these articles the grandmothers symbolize how the boy-twin shall grow up a strong-hearted warrior and hunter; how the girl-twin shall prove a good wife, dexterous with the hut cleaning and cunning with the ladle.

Here are some choice examples from the logbook of 'howlers', kept by instructors in the Department of English at the University of Carolina: In King Lear Edmund 'committed a base act and allowed his illegitimate father to see a forged letter'. Cordelia's death was 'the straw that broke the camel's back and killed the king'. Lear's fool was 'prostrated on the neck of the king'.

Hotspur, according to a sophomore, "was a wild, irresolute man. He loved honor above all. He would go out and kill twenty Scotchmen before breakfast".

A list of Shakespeare's plays said to have been read by sophomores included Common Errors. One student liked best of Dickens' novels his Twin Cities; another had read The Tail of Two Cities. A freshman preferred David Copperfield's novels to any Dickens he wrote. Another recalled having read Hawthorn's House of the Seven Gables.

BELGRADE IS IN SITE OF ANCIENT FORTRESS

Washington, D. C.—Belgrade, capital of Jugoslavia, has shared with Rome the interest of diplomatic circles during the recent threatened friction between Jugoslavia and Italy over Albania. This Balkan capital is the subject of the following bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"It was inevitable that there should be an important city on the site of Belgrade," says the bulletin. "It is situated on the angle of land between the Sava and Danube at the meeting point of those two important rivers. At the very apex of the triangle is a chalk cliff, some 200 feet high. This became a fortress and citadel as early as the third century, B. C., when Celtic tribes established Belgradus, predecessor, the town of Singidunum."

"Through the centuries that have passed since, this rock has played an important part in European affairs.

It was held successively by Celts, Romans, Huns, Goths, Bulgarians, Byzantines, Hungarians, Servians, and Austrians. One of its more important holders was the Turks. From 1521 until little more than half a century ago it was in Turkish hands, except for short periods, and was Islam's northernmost arrow aimed at the heart of Christendom. The Turkish garrison finally withdrew in 1866 when Serbia became practically independent.

"Belgrade is sometimes known by the older form, Beograd. The name means 'white city', an appropriate name, the observer feels, when he sees the white cliff of the citadel and sundry white towers and walls. Even in the days when Belgrade's streets were narrow, dirty, oriental ways, the view from across the Danube or from its waters was a charming one. The aspect of the city has changed greatly in recent years, and it has little now to distinguish it from other European capitals. Since the World War there has been a marked building boom, stimulated in part by laws holding new dwellings tax-free for 25 years, and other new structures for shorter terms. The population of the capital, drawn from a much greater area than that of pre-war Serbia, has practically doubled, being now about 200,000.

"Old Russia at times sought influence over Serbia, the blood of whose people is also Slavic. For one of the principal thoroughfares Czar Nicholas gave the paving, having it laid by Russian laborers. The street was renamed Czaritsa, and bears that name today. At 5 o'clock each afternoon police clear the street of carriages and automobiles and the promenading populace fills the space from curb to curb, many dropping into the chairs of the sidewalk cafes for coffee and conversation. It is an interesting, colorful spectacle, this afternoon parade on Czaritsa Street, with the promenaders running the gamut from peasant to man and woman of the world.

"In addition to its wars and sieges, Belgrade has had its stark tragedies. In 1868, Prince Michael, who had brought about the evacuation of the Turks, and had given Serbia its first taste of independence for centuries, was assassinated in his garden. In 1903 King Alexander and Queen Draga of Serbia, were murdered in their palace. This structure of ill omen was demolished and a new palace built for the king of a different dynasty who succeeded".

DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE

Washington, D. C., April 23.—The United States Steel Corporation, frequently referred to as the "steel trust", one of the giant corporations so tenderly "protected" by the Fordney tariff policy of the Coolidge Administration, this week declared a stock dividend amounting to approximately $203,000,000. During 1926, the steel corporation paid cash dividends of $61,000,000, making a total of $264,000,000 in cash and stock dividends distributed by the steel trust during the last sixteen months. During 1926, its net earnings were $17,000,000.

Much of the huge profits piled up by the steel trust, and the enormous dividends it has been able to pay, has been due to the excessive tariffs it enjoys in the Fordney-McCumber Act. Although it is a giant monopoly, and not one of the "infant industries" to foster which the Republican party adopted the principle of "protection", the steel trust enjoys abnormally high tariff favors which are denied to lesser corporations and other interests in other lines. Furthermore, President Coolidge has singled the steel trust out for a very special favor, under the "flexible tariff" provision of the Fordney tariff act, which gives him authority to raise and lower any duty as much as fifty per cent.

Approximately two months ago, President Coolidge raised the tariff on pig iron from fifty per cent, or thirty-seven and a half cents a ton. Immediately the steel trust boosted the price of pig iron 50 cents a ton, or twelve and a half cents per ton more than the tariff increase. Without this increase in duty, the steel corporation has been able to pile up a surplus that has made it possible to issue stock and cash dividends of more than $250,000,000 since the beginning of 1926. The additional duty allowed by the President will add not less than $19,000,000 to the already huge profits the steel trust was able to make under the original rates of the Fordney act and that much to the consumer's load. At least, the property of the President granting a tariff favor to the steel corporation is subject to criticism, because President Coolidge is a stockholder in the steel corporation and will profit directly from the tariff favor he has bestowed. It is suggested that if he is going to grant executive favors to the corporation, he ought at least regard the proprieties to the extent of disposing of his stock in the corporation. He is in precisely the same position as a Judge presiding over a lawsuit in which he was a litigant.

The farming population is approximately 30 per cent of the total population of the country. The farmers, therefore, are paying a large part of the higher prices for products of steel made from the pig iron on which the duty has been raised. Every plow, axe or other tool or implement, every bit of steel used in the construction of house, barn or garage, costs the farmers and other consumers more as a result of this tariff. This added burden, loaded onto the farmer in order to give the steel trust protection it does not need, and which only swells its profits, increases the load under which the farmer is already staggering. While the steel trust was making these huge profits, during the twelve months ending with March 15, 1926, 123,000 farms in the country were sold under foreclosure, whilst 170,000 other farms were sold by voluntary sale. Many of the latter were sold at severe losses, because the farmers, under existing conditions, had not been able to make them pay and were unable to carry the load, any longer. During last year, according to the Department of Agriculture, the farm population of the country decreased by 640,000 persons, the greatest desertion of the farm with a single exception in more than a decade, while 1,000,000 fewer persons are living on farms now than in 1925.

Despite the very deplorable situation of the farmers, despite the fact that only such giant monopolies as the steel trust and the aluminum trust, owned by the family of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, are making large profits and enjoying the so-called "prosperity", the President, under the great grant of authority conveyed to him by the Fordney-McCumber tariff act, increases the expenses of the farmers and of consumers generally, bestows an added favor on the already highly protected steel trust, and increases its opportunity to add to already stupendous profits and does this for a corporation in which he is a stockholder.

The farmer's bankruptcy and the steel trust's prosperity are typical of the "Coolidge prosperity" of prosperity" of which Republican soothsayers are saying so much.

MOREHOUSE TO SEND DELEGATION TO COLUMBIA

Extensive arrangements are being made by the College of Agriculture, Columbia, to handle the largest crowd that ever attended Junior Farm and Home Week. The Thirteenth Annual Meet will be held at the College May 3-6, 1927, and is planned especially for vocational agriculture students and members of 4-H Clubs. This has assumed a definite organization and all members receive the same kind of service and opportunity for learning as that given during regular Farmers' Week. Members of the agricultural faculty give lectures, demonstrations, and instruction to boys and girls and here is where the vocational agriculture students shine. Large groups of these students in charge of the instructor attend from all sections of the State, there being now fifty-six schools north of the river and fifty-six south. They engage in various activities and contests and live stock judging. Here a live stock judging team is chosen to represent Missouri at the American Royal Show next fall. Vocational agriculture teams will be present from twenty-five states at the American Royal to be held in Kansas City next November.

Vocational schools have been carrying on a Community Improvement Contest during the past school year. Points are earned by keeping account of items and tasks performed in the home and on the farm. For example, for each project pig sold the boy earns ten points and each poultry project completed, twenty points. A large list of items based on agricultural projects has been arranged and credit is given as indicated for points earned.

Several prizes will be awarded the individual winners and also the schools of this great contest on Friday morning, May 6 at Columbia.

An outstanding feature will be an address by Governor Sam A. Baker, who will deliver in person his cash prize of $20.00 to the boy making the highest score, also the presentation of $15 in cash by Superintendent Chas. A. Lee, to the boy winning second. Beautiful banners and pennants will be awarded the schools ranking highest in this popular contest by the Director and State Supervisors of Vocational Agriculture. Some boy will receive the thrill of a life time when he receives from the hand of the Governor a cash prize of $20.

Several hundred boys throughout the State are now competing for the high honor.

DRAINAGE MAP OF THE STATE

The Missouri Geological Survey at Rolla under the direction of H. A. Buehler, State Geologist, is making a detailed study of the surface waters of the state. For the past six years over fifty gaging stations have been maintained on the various rivers and in drouth or flood the engineers have gathered the necessary data to show the variation in flow each month and year.

In connection with this work an accurate map of the state has been published showing the location and area of the drainage basin of every major stream in the state. The character of each drainage basin is shown in relation to the adjoining areas, and all gaging stations and rainfall stations are indicated.

The map is excellent as a wall map of the state, and may be obtained by addressing the State Geological Survey, Rolla, enclosing 20 cents in stamps to cover cost of postage and packing.

Our gas has an even combustion range. Hence it runs smoothly whether you are crawling through traffic or skimming over a concrete highway miles from town and motorcycle cops.

Vocation Agricultural Class Takes Concrete Course

Last Thursday, Professor Bryce Edwards, Vocational Agricultural Class, took a short course in the making and use of concrete on the farm. This work was under the direction of Dave Meeker, a Farm Concrete Specialist, representing the Portland Cement Association.

According to Mr. Meeker, the 1925 farm census showed New Madrid County to have an investment in farm buildings equal to two and one-half millions of dollars. It was pointed out that this investment was depreciating rapidly due to the fact that the buildings were mostly of non-permanent material which required maintenance and repair, and that the repair and replacement of these buildings with a more permanent type of building material would be the best solution of the problem.

The classes also studied the details of making concrete on the farm. This included listing materials sand and gravel, planning concrete mixers for various kinds of work, placing, finishing and curing concrete.

Elizabeth Todd won fourth place in the typewriting contest at the Cape

Girardeau interscholastic meet.

Rev. and Mrs. Love will conduct a Sunday School Training School for teachers at the Methodist church this week. The course extends for six days. Those completing the work will be given a certificate as trained Sunday School worker. Morehouse was fortunate in being one of only two places in the Poplar Bluff district where such schools are to be held this year.

The annual New Madrid County Track Meet which was to be held at New Madrid next Saturday has been postponed, indefinitely.

Howard Dunaway is visiting his parents, Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Dunaway. Howard's fine project work in vocational agriculture of a few years back was described in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch of last Friday.

Mrs. Lillian Grossman gathered together a great quantity of clothes, provisions and money for the flood refugees, which was taken to Risco and turned over to the victims at that place by John Porter.

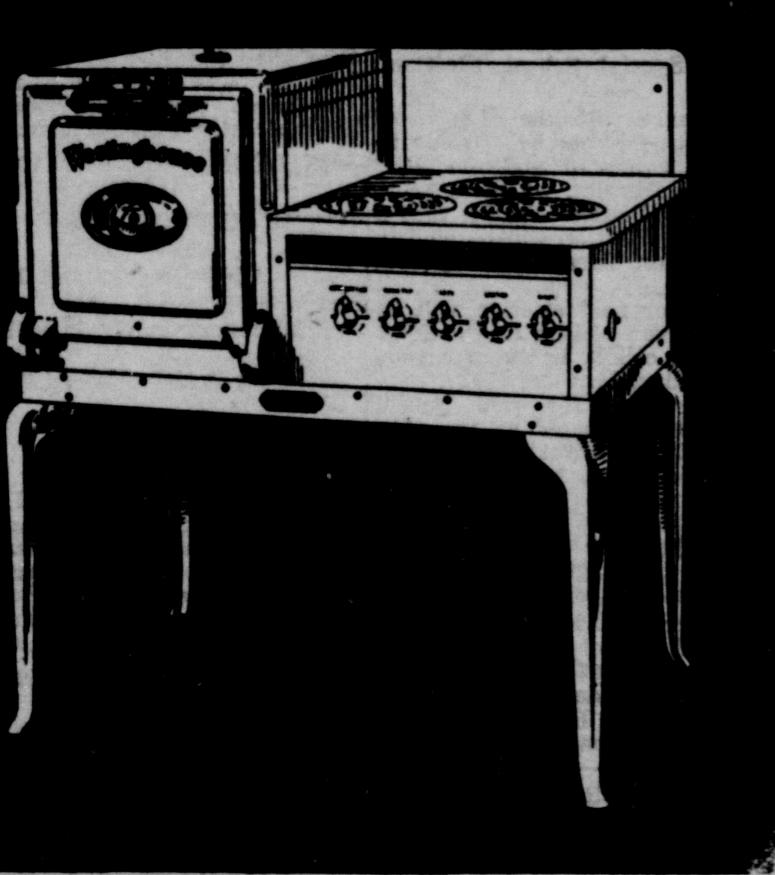

While Morehouse has escaped flood damage more than most other towns, sympathy goes out to the unfortunate ones as should by the liberal donations and the care given refugees within the town.

Mrs. Deneke of Cape Girardeau is visiting her son, W. A. Deneke and family, here.

Today's Ford Cars!

Before You Buy Any Make of Automobile Let Us Show You Today's Ford Car

You may consider that you know the Ford Car. You may have been a Ford owner for years and think you are familiar with the splendid satisfaction which the Ford gives, and yet unless you have made it a point to examine the Ford Car as it is BUILT TODAY—to drive it and note its improved engine performance—relax in it over rough roads, and experience the increased comfort which it affords, and to learn of the many recent improvements, you do not know the Ford Car as it is built today.

Many of the new Ford Car features are obvious—balloon tire equipment—wire wheels pyrolyx finish—a choice of colors—improved upholstery, etc., but the big satisfaction to you, as the owner of Today's Ford Car is to be found in the way in which it will fulfill your expectations of what a modern motor car should be. You will be amazed at the increased power resulting from the new Vaporizer, the smoother engine operation, the increased gasoline mileage, the improved riding qualities, and above all, in the way in which this car handles and performs in traffic on the open road.

In short, you must drive a new Ford Car to be a fair judge of present-day motor car values.

Early Saturday evening a number of pistol shots were heard and the people down town were attracted to the home of Rafe LeSieur, where it was found that Hurtis Wilson had attacked LeSieur with a pistol from which, it is said, he fired and missed his intended victim several shots, then with a shot gun he fired a load of No. 4 shot into the face and front part of LeSieur's body, very seriously wounding him. Wilson escaped arrest as no officer was near to capture him, Marshal DeLisle being at home sick at the time. He is still at large. Dr. H. H. O'Kelley attended the wounded man who he thinks will probably recover. The cause of the shooting, we are told, was Wilson had charged LeSieur with stealing five gallons of his moonshine whisky, and the quarrel between the two men was prompted by a desire for revenge on

SALAD SUGGESTIONS

A salad is one dish of which we never tire. One reason for this may be that it appears in such a variety of combinations.

A left-over may be used in a salad without any question as to its right of second appearance.

Macaroni and Celery Salad.—Take one pint of boiled macaroni which has been cut into half-inch pieces, add one pint of celery cut into the same sized pieces, add one cupful of chopped nuts and one cupful of good salad dressing. Line a salad bowl with lettuce and heap into it the salad mixture. Chill and serve. This will serve eight portions.

Tomato and Cheese Salad.—Arrange small cups made from tomatoes on lettuce leaves, fill with cream cheese which has been seasoned well and mixed with chopped nuts. Add a spoonful of mayonnaise at the side of the dish.

Combination Salad.—When one has a little celery, a half cupful or less of crisp tender cabbage, cut the celery, add the cabbage (shredded), an apple finely diced, and a bit of red pepper or green if at hand, a tablespoonful of scraped onion; mix all with a good mayonnaise or well-seasoned boiled dressing and serve on lettuce.

Hot Potato Salad.—Wash six medium-sized potatoes and cook in boiling salted water until soft. Cool, remove the skins and cut into thin slices or cubes. Cover the bottom of a baking dish with potatoes, season with salt, pepper, sprinkle with finely chopped parsley. Mix two tablespoonsfuls each of tarragon and cider vinegar and four tablespoonsfuls of olive oil; add one slice of onion cut one-third of an inch thick. Bring to the boiling point, pour over the potatoes, cover, let stand in the oven until thoroughly hot.

Celery and Cabbage Salad.—Cut the outside leaves from a firm, hard head of cabbage. Cut out the center and shred with a sharp knife. Let stand one hour in ice water. Drain as dry as possible. Mix with equal parts of celery cut into small pieces. Moisten with cream dressing and refill the cabbage.

Sikeston Standard,
Dear Sir:

In your issue of April 22, you say, "I wonder if our Constable and our Justices of the Peace keep a record of all their transactions in the way of fines, collections and dismissals. If so, we would like to see the records".

I can only answer your query as to myself, and will say there are files and records in this office for all the court cases, civil or criminal, that has been brought in court. These records are public records open for the inspection of any citizen who would care to examine them. I cannot answer for the Constable and police. If they create record in a place where it cannot be recorded, you certainly would not hold the Justices of the Peace responsible for a record created out of court, and of which we have no knowledge.

I believe you have asked the wrong question in order to obtain the information sought. However, I believe your question is relative therefore I am not going to over-rule it. And in the future permit you to lead the witness on cross examination if you care to. But be careful and don't ask questions that have no relation to the case in hand.—Jos. W. Myers.

Don't forget your Mother with a floral offering on May 8.

This is not the time for the man who wants to get rich quick to invest in an orchard nor to plant one. The commercial fruit grower needs to take the best care of his trees and market his fruit most carefully if he is to realize even moderate profits for the next few years. The consumer has the best of it just now and ought to cultivate the fruit habit. It will be good for his health and is the cheapest and best combination of food and tonic.

Last fall a firm of California potato growers harvested an average of 1000 bushels of potatoes per acre from 9 acres. The rest of the country, if previous production records are a reliable index, harvested approximately 113 bushels to the acre. Farmers in Great Britain have been producing an average of 200 bushels per acre for a number of years. It is evident, says the United States Department of Agriculture, that the general run of farmers who grow potatoes in the United States do not make efficient use of the available knowledge on increasing acre production.

CINDERELLA TO BE GIVEN
BY SIXTH GRADE PUPILS

The operetta to be given Thursday, May 5 by the Fifth and Sixth grades is taken from the well known fairy tale, "Cinderella". It is entitled "The Maid and the Golden Slipper".

The fairies sing of joy until the Fairy Godmother tells them of the sad lot of Cinderella, who has a wicked step-mother and two jealous step-sisters.

They all wish to help her, and the Godmother tells them of the ball which is to be given by the Prince and how with their aid and that of Cupid, she intends to let Cinderella attend.

Cinderella helps prepare her step-sisters for the ball, then she is left alone in the kitchen.

The Godmother appears and magically changes Cinderella's rags to a beautiful yellow gown and gives her golden slippers, but with the warning to leave before the clock strikes 12.

At the ball, the prince under the spell of Cupid, falls in love with Cinderella, who escapes just as the clock strikes. In her haste, she loses one slipper. After a long search, the prince finds the owner of the slipper and all end happily.

The Fairy Godmother is played beautifully by Margaret Mitchell, and Mr. Cupid is portrayed by Arnold Lee. While Henrietta Moore and Nanna Belle Wilson make two very good step-sisters for the beautiful Cinderella, Dona Kathryn Myers. The Prince Charming is played by Daniel Malone. He is attended by his personal friend, the Duke, Sam Bowman.

FIVE HUNDRED DOL-
LARS PER DAY NEEDED

The finance committee of the Sikeston Chapter of the Red Cross desires to announce to the good citizens of Scott County that about fifteen hundred people are now being fed and housed at the various Scott County refugee camps and it requires five hundred dollars each day to feed these unfortunate folks. The finance committee needs funds and as the refugees will have to be taken care of for at least ten days or two weeks longer, it is hoped that the people of the County as a whole will help donate the funds necessary for carrying on this fine work.

We would like to suggest that if any of our farmer friends have any potatoes—sweet and Irish—meat or other foodstuffs that they would like to give to this worthy relief work, it will be highly appreciated.

The committee wishes to express their appreciation of the whole-hearted co-operation extended them in this noble work by the various clubs, societies and etc., and individuals of our sister cities and communities with whom we have talked.

We have been unable to call on each and every city and community in our county for funds to be expended in the alleviation of the distress of the Flood Refugees and as we are sure all desire to do their part we suggest that each community donate liberally to the end that the folks who are dependent upon us may be taken care of in the right way.

Some will contribute in cash, some will give cheque which have made payable to the Red Cross Relief. Be sure and get the name of each individual contributor to this fund, which information is not only for publication in our county papers, but for the permanent records of the American Red Cross Society.

Scott County has ever been foremost in deeds of valor; ever ready and willing to heed and give succor to the needy and distressed. In this unforeseen disaster she has lived up to tradition; she has heard the cry of the distressed mothers and fathers and children and she has risen with hands outstretched, contributing of her every resource in her sympathetic effort to reconcile and satisfy the grown-ups, appease the hunger of the children and silence the cries of the babe.

MORE FUNDS NEEDED. MORE FUNDS NEEDED.

SIKESTON CANNERY
FINALLY LOCATED

The Akins-Sikeston Canning Company have purchased land at the southwest end of Sunset Addition, deeds and transfers made, and Col. Lange, who will be a resident manager of the plant is staking off the ground preparatory to placing the building that will receive the machinery.

It was first said the building be of hollow tile to cost $4000, but the permanent building will not be erected until it is demonstrated the farmers will plant sufficient acreage to justify the outlay.

The long building on the Fair Grounds lately used as a dancing pavilion, will be moved to the new site and placed in position for a warehouse, and two of the barns will be moved to be used as the cannery proper. These two latter buildings will rest on concrete floors, will be screened and kept in a high sanitary condition.

A cannery factory is not always a very sightly building, hence the location at the extreme western limits of the city. The Missouri Pacific will place all switches and same will be used by the Frisco as well.

Every encouragement should be given this enterprise by the farmers as it is being backed by local people for especial benefit.

SOUTHEAST MISSOURI
CONDITIONS IMPROVED

There is not much change in the flood situation in this section from what we printed Tuesday. The water is going down slowly from St. Louis to below the Missouri line. Transfer boats are taking traffic from Birds Point to Cairo, the Missouri Pacific in Southeast Missouri are all in operation. Thursday a through passenger and mail train came in from St. Louis going south to Memphis. The east and west highway from Birds Point to Springfield is open, as is the north and south road from Sikeston to St. Louis. It is believed the road will be open to New Madrid in another week.

With all the hardships experienced by our near neighbor to the south, they have had nothing to contend with to what they are enduring in Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana. At McGeehee, Ark., the city is covered from 2 to 20 feet with water, as is all the Big Lake and St. Francis River drainage area. Many lives have been lost to the south and the loss in property cannot be estimated at this time.

Sikeston and Scott County have done and will do their part to succor those who are with us in the Sikeston Red Cross Camp. Up to Wednesday evening the cash contributed amounted to $3,971.18. Thursday morning several hundred dollars more have been received, $100 from the Hugh Stephens Printing Co., Jefferson City, with a like sum from Benton with more to come.

The Frisco Railroad gave a carload of coal, Chaffee another truck load of cloths, Mrs. H. J. Morrison, Poplar Bluff, $10; First Baptist church, Morehouse, wood; Mrs. W. R. Irwin, Gillespie, Ill., clothes.

These unfortunates will be with us for some time to come and everyone in the community who is working should give a cash donation. Leave the cash with The Bijou, Dudleys, the Chamber of Commerce, John A. Young, or either of the banks.

The response to the Red Cross appeals from all over the United States has been wonderful which shows that God reigns supreme and touches the hearts of our fellowman.

A. J. BEVERIDGE DIES
SUDDENLY AT HIS HOME

Indianapolis, Ind., April 27.—Albert Jeremiah Beveridge, former United States Senator from Indiana, died suddenly here today.

Mr. Beveridge was twice elected to the Senate from Indiana. He retired from the Senate in 1911 and twice sought to return, but was defeated in 1914 as the Progressive Party candidate and in 1922 was defeated by Samuel M. Ralston, Democrat.

Death came this morning at his home here. He has been working here for some time upon his latest book, "The Life of Abraham Lincoln".

The former Senator's health has not been the best for several months, but his condition was not regarded as serious. His death occurred at 6:45 o'clock this morning. It came as a shock to close associates, who said there was no intimation yesterday that his condition was in any way critical.

One of the pioneer exponents of the direct election of all public officials, Beveridge consistently was unsuccessful as a candidate under the system.

Twice he attained membership in the United States Senate from Indiana through election by the state legislature and twice he was rejected as an aspirant for the same place by popular referendum.

In 1922, Beveridge was defeated as the Progressive candidate for governor of Indiana.

Beveridge's prominence was as firmly fixed in his literary career and in his ability as an orator, as in his statesmanship. His "Life of John Marshall", is regarded as the most illuminating exposition of the first chief justice of the United States Supreme Court.

The season is late for the planting of large acreages and the farmer should put in the ground the crops that will give him a sure and safe return. Corn acreage will be large without a doubt, but the price will not justify expensive help to secure record acreage. Soybeans and peas for forage is a safe crop without expensive labor and stock will need the hay. Not being farmer of experience, we can only speak from observation, but wish to call the attention of cotton raisers to the article printed in the Tuesday's issue from Harris Draughon about the cotton that will bring the high price. To us, his idea is sound and should be followed. It will require no more help to produce quality in cotton that will sell for a premium, than just cotton which is now a drag on the market.

While the National Guard was patrolling the levee in the Drinkwater section, T. A. Wilson, Arnold Roth and James Matthews of Sikeston were sent with a message. It was after night, cold, wet and tiresome going. They sat down on the high spots to rest, when from out of darkness came the words: "Halt, who goes there? Advance and show pass." T. advanced up close to the end of the bayonet, informed the guard who he was, where he was going, etc., but had no pass. The guard ordered the three to proceed before him to a nearby shack, where an officer was stationed. The officer permitted them to proceed to their destination, where, the last year.

NOTICE AUTOMOBILE OPERATORS AND CHAUFFEURS

BOYS' AND GIRL'S TRACK MEET AT SIKESTON

According to the report of the State Auto Commission there are several people in this jurisdiction who have not procured license to operate motor vehicles. Some who do not understand the law and do not know they are required under the statutes to procure license.

For the benefit of those who are required under the law to have a license to operate motor vehicles, I am giving below the law that applies to the above.

Motor vehicle laws, 1921. Section

3. Definitions:

Chaffeur: An operator who operates a motor vehicle in the transportation of persons or property, and who receives compensation for such service in wages, salary, commission or fare. Or who as owner or employee operates a motor vehicle carrying passengers or property for hire.

Registered Operator: An operator, other than a chaffeur, who regularly operates a motor vehicle of another person in the course of, or as an incident to his employment, but whose principal occupation is not the operation of said motor vehicle.

Section 8, article c: All chauffeurs are required to wear the badge furnished by the State in some conspicuous place on the clothing of the operator or chaffeur.

All persons who come under the above requirements are required to renew their license by the first day of February of each year. The smallest penalty is $5 and costs.

It is a wonderful work and one that will long stand out in the history of Sikeston and we are certain that any and all of our good women are ready and willing to do any part of the work that may be assigned them.

What is thought to be one of the best and biggest boys' and girls' track meet ever scheduled in Sikeston, will be held next Friday afternoon at the Fair Grounds.

This is the sixth annual event of this kind in Sikeston, and there promises to be a great deal of keen competition among the teams, the girls' division being the largest in the State.

Seven towns besides Sikeston, have entered their teams, so far, namely, Poplar Bluff, Jackson, Cape Girardeau, Caruthersville, Hayti, Malden and Charleston. Poplar Bluff, Hayti, Malden and Charleston will each bring a girls' team to compete with the Sikeston girls.

A few of the big features of the meet will be Neville of Cape, who broke the record in high jump, at 5 feet, 9 1/2 inches, last Friday at the Cape Girardeau meet, Brase of Jackson, who won the 100-yd. and 220-yd. dash, and placed second in the 440, and Putz of Jackson, who shattered the former record by throwing the javelin 169 feet.

Cantrell and Baker, of Sikeston, made a splendid showing last Friday, Cantrell taking first place in shot put and Baker placing third in the 220, and 4th in the 100-yd. dash.

Very little is known of the girls' teams of the various towns, but the Sikeston girls under the coaching of Miss Prior, have been practicing strenuously and are confident of quite a number of first and second places, in the forthcoming meet.

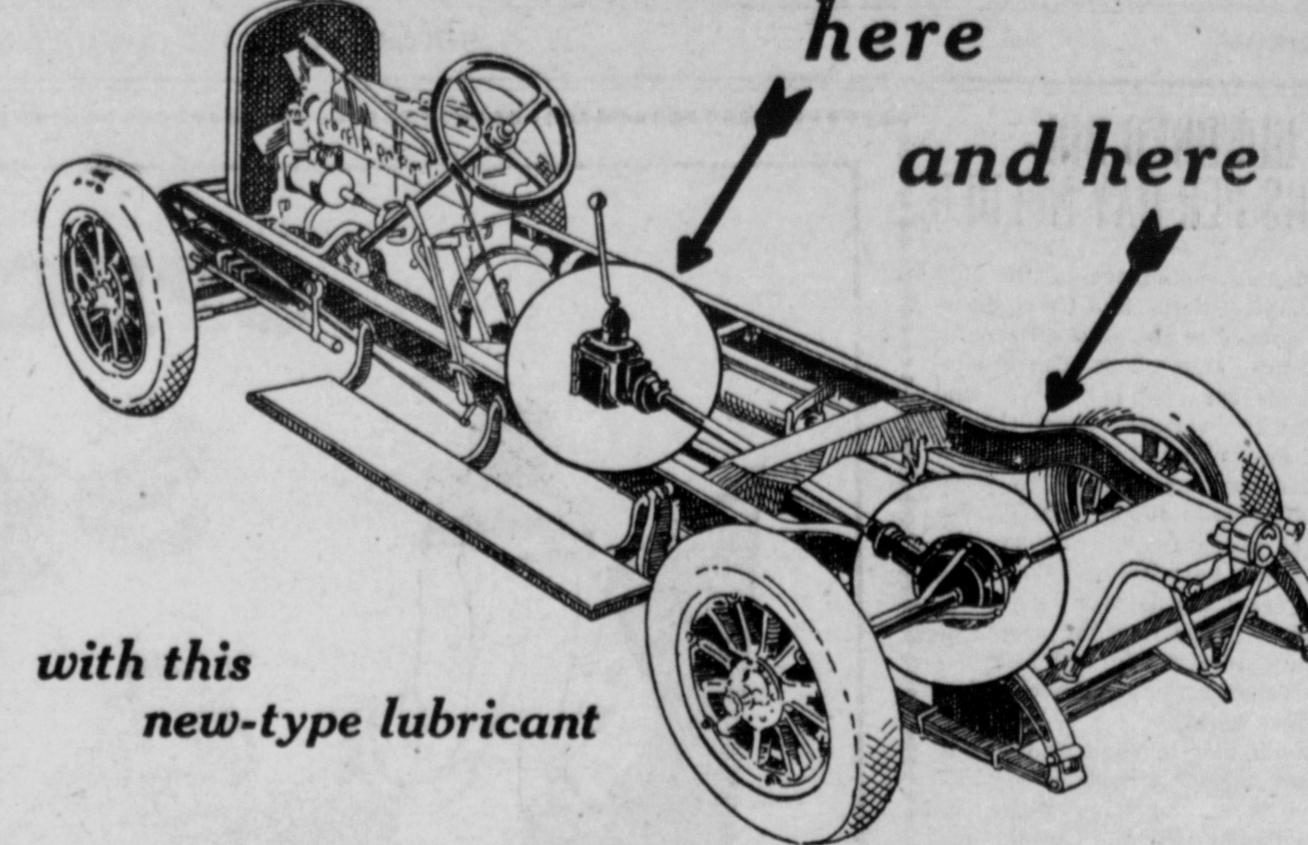

In the girls' division, a Poplar Bluff girl, a Miss De Long from Malden and a few others, including one of the Sikeston girls, will show real class.

Six cups will be awarded, one to the winners of each of the two boys' relays, one to the winner of the girls' relay and one to the girls' team, making the most points throughout the meet. Cups will be given to the individual girl and boy having the most number of points to his credit. Medals will also be awarded to the winners of first, second and third places.

CHRYSLER MODEL NUMBERS MEAN MILES PER HOUR

In the Chrysler "50", Walter P. Chrysler and his corps of engineers, studying the field of fine and low-priced six-cylinder cars, strove to produce a four-cylinder car which would unmistakably advertise its greater value by its greater performance, greater sturdiness and greater long life.

In its 50-miles-plus per hour, 5 to 25 miles in 8 seconds, 25 miles to the gallon, they gave the public something immediate, something convincing, something final and conclusive with which to measure Chrysler "50" against and above anything around its class either in six or four cylinders.

Chrysler "50" has been overwhelmingly accepted by the public for what it was designed and built to be—the giant of its class in Standardized Quality, outstanding performance, full family size, complete appointment and every essential that makes for outstanding and indisputable value.

ILLINOIS HOUSE, DRY
FOR YEARS, VOTES TO
ANNUL VOLSTEAD ACT

Springfield, Ill., April 26.—The Illinois House of Representatives controlled by "dry" for many years turned to a wet organization today, when it adopted a resolution calling upon the Congress of the United States to call a constitutional convention to knock out the eighteenth amendment. The vote was 74 to 68, and came after a long debate in which drys and wets participated.

"Wets" were jubilant over their victory in the lower branch, but were not so sure of their ground when the resolution sponsored by Representative Leroy Green of Rockford gets to the Senate, which for years has been classed "bone dry". The resolution has the endorsement of the association opposed to prohibition, but Nevada is the only state in the Union which has adopted it in both branches of the assembly.

While "wets" are claiming a signal victory and see the end of the control of the Anti-saloon League in the House, several members who have been classed as "dripping wet" frowned on the resolution on the ground that it would open the way for a general attack upon the Federal Constitution. "Drys", as a general rule, stood firm against the resolution, but were outvoted.

The resolution was called by Green, who urged its adoption on the ground that the eighteenth amendment, a war measure, became effective while thousands of men were in the trenches.

He said its enactment opened the way for graft in the enforcement of its regulations and had caused endless crime and the downfall of the young. Representative Elmer Shnackenberg, Chicago, opposed the resolution, not from the standpoint of wet or dry, but because the calling of a Federal Constitution would open the way for a general attack upon the basic law of the land.

The same view is expressed by Representative Lee O'Neill Browne, who voted in the negative. Representative Truman A. Snell, Carlinville, saw in the adoption of the measure an undermining of the Constitution. He also said he did not believe the people of Illinois wished to be in the front ranks of the nation for such an amendment, when it was the twenty-sixth state in the union to ratify the prohibition amendment. He pointed to hard roads, better schools and other advancement as "some day the liquor question will be settled and settled right". Snell said "and we will be proud of every vote cast against alcohol".

The question of members voting dry and taking a drink when the occasion presented itself was injected into the debate as the roll call proceeded before a crowded gallery. A large number of members expressed themselves, some charging that the prohibition amendment has opened the way to graft in departments of the government.

Among those who debated the bill were: Representatives S. B. Turner, Chicago; M. P. Rice, Lewistown; Elbert Waller, Tamaroa, on behalf of the schools; William F. Propper, Chicago; Arthur Roe, Vandalia, who voted present, and Roy Juul, Chicago.

Representative Emil A. W. Johnson, Chicago, who voted in the negative on roll call, changed his vote to aye, with the statement that his district was against prohibition when the proposition was submitted a few years ago.

"We are not so sure of our ground in the Senate", said Representative Green after the roll call had been announced. "The vote today here shows the House to be wet and in the Senate we will be able to get members on record and give the organization an opportunity to elect members who are in favor of our cause".

The resolution now goes to the Senate for final consideration, where it probably will be defeated. "Wets" of the House, while admitting that the test vote was not based on the question of alcohol alone, believe they will be able to muster a sufficient number of votes to pass the bill for a repeal of the search and seizure law in Illinois.

ECONOMIZE OR QUIT
BAKER WARNS STATE
DEPARTMENT HEADS

Jefferson City, April 26.—Gov. Baker sent a letter to all his appointees and department and institution heads today virtually telling them to practice economy, keep their expenditures within the appropriations which he approved, or resign.

He attached to each of the letters a list of items which he had either vetoed or withheld in approving appropriations for the particular department.

Strenuous efforts, he pointed out, had been made to get sufficient revenue to run the state, but without avail. This makes it incumbent, he said, upon every department and institution head and every official to make a desperate effort to hold down expenses.

After telling his appointees and others affected that if they felt they could not practice the economy made necessary by the limited state funds that it would "be a splendid time to resign and let me appoint someone in the place who can", he added. He hoped they would take this suggestion "in the right spirit".

The Governor said the Legislature had overappropriated the revenues by approximately $5,000,000, and that he had "trimmed" the excess down to about $300,000. The total amount of the state's funds for the biennial period of 1927 and 1928, exclusive of the school's one-third, is about $14,500,000.

The Governor's letter to his appointees and department heads follows:

"Attached you will find a list of items vetoed and held up as they appear in the various appropriation bills affecting your institution:

"The Governor does not, in any sense of the word, wish to be considered a dictator, but he has made a strenuous effort to get sufficient revenue to run the state. We have been unable to do so. Your appropriations, and the enclosed shows, with the holdups should be considered as all the revenue that you will get for the biennial period.

"The reason that we have made more holdups than vetoes is that we wanted to be in a position, in case of an emergency that we could release some funds, even at the risk of running a deficiency, but I feel that inasmuch as there is such a shortage of revenue, all appointees of the Governor and those interested in the welfare of the administration should make a desperate effort to get along on the amount of money allotted, and if at all possible save something out of the amount.

"The Legislature overappropriated approximately $5,000,000. I was unable to prune the full amount, but have come within $300,000 of the estimated revenue.

"If any appointee of the Governor feels that he cannot practice the economy made necessary by the limited funds allotted, this would be a splendid time to resign and let us appoint someone in the place who can. I am sure you will take this in the right spirit. The same letter is being sent to all heads of departments, institutions, bureaus and boards. I expect to practice this economy in my own office and have begun by cutting out one clerk, I shall probably cut out another within the next few months".

I READ IN THE PAPERS—

From the diary of a prominent Philadelphia merchant of a century ago, comes this excerpt anent early prohibition propaganda. The diary is being reprinted daily in the Public Ledger: 'Wednesday, January 15, of 1845.

"In the Afternoon I went to hear a celebrated Temperance Lecturer, named J. B. Gough, who addressed a vast assemblage at the Presbyterian Church Dr. McDowell's) at the corner of 8th and Cherry Sts.

I could hardly obtain even standing room, but got a place where I could both see and hear him, in the Gallery. He is a young man, of about 24 years of age, with a thin countenance and pale complexion, and of a sanguine temperament. His style of speaking is florid, and his words flow out in a continued stream, without much break; while his action is energetic and sometimes fit and beautiful; but his matter was mostly about himself, and his own experience, and did not contain anything new, or even old truths beautifully illustrated. I did not therefore consider him pre-eminent as a public speaker.

"The reason that we have made more holdups than vetoes is that we wanted to be in a position, in case of an emergency that we could release some funds, even at the risk of running a deficiency, but I feel that inasmuch as there is such a shortage of revenue, all appointees of the Governor and those interested in the welfare of the administration should make a desperate effort to get along on the amount of money allotted, and if at all possible save something out of the amount.

In the second series of the William E. Harmon Awards, the sum of $4,000 is offered in recognition of outstanding accomplishments among negroes, who are thereby given another incentive to creative work in music, fine arts, the sciences, business organization and religious work. The results of the first year of the series just closed were regarded as most encouraging in that such talent was discovered as that of Palmer C. Hayden, an artist whose paintings were executed in a small room in New York's Greenwich Village in the free hours he had from his work as a housecleaner; James C. Evans, a former student of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, whose findings in radio were considered valuable contributions to the science, and others who gave constructively to various fields of endeavor.

Condemning the Charleston as a barbaric dance, an American missionary in South Africa says that he has seen it danced by savages in the African jungle. That is no more unlikely than the claim that the new Black Bottom dance, which has recently come to London from America, may be seen by negroes on the banks of the Mississippi when they wipe the black mud of the river bed from their feet.

The white man dances for the fun of it, savages usually dance with some serious object, apart from the natural exhilaration which they, like us, get out of dancing. A kind of savage Charleston, known as lambo iatutte, for instance, is danced by old women of the Iramba tribe, who live on the Daua Plateau in Tanganyika, to celebrate the birth of twins. This dance which only the grandmothers of the twins (grand-aunts and cousins being included in that description) may take part in, and which the old ladies will keep up from one dawn to the next without fatigue, is really a motion-play of the newly born twins' future lives. Before the dance starts offerings are made to the tribal sun god, Munankali, to invoke the deity's blessing on the twins.

In the dance each old woman carries some domestic utensil, such as a vegetable ladle, or some hunter's equipment, such as a spear, while around their heads are bound coronets of zebra mane. With these articles the grandmothers symbolize how the boy-twin shall grow up a strong-hearted warrior and hunter; how the girl-twin shall prove a good wife, dexterous with the hut cleaning and cunning with the ladle.

Wonderful effects, ranging from a lullaby murmur to a howling roar, from an exhilarating tattoo to a blood-curdling growl, are produced from the drums by no other means than the woman player's hands!

This savage Charleston has all the steps and measures of our European dance of that name, and it is thoroughly enjoyed by those who dance it as well as by the huge crowd of women and warriors who gather to watch it.

As we have refreshments during intervals of dancing, so savages enjoy honey-wine, grain-beer, and a kind of malt-cup known as migai. The men sit in one group, drinking and yarning. The women in another group gossip as women love to, and for the amusement of the unmarried girls, a delightful interlude which

BELGRADE IS IN SITE OF ANCIENT FORTRESS

Washington, D. C.—Belgrade, capital of Jugoslavia, has shared with Rome the interest of diplomatic circles during the recent threatened friction between Jugoslavia and Italy over Albania. This Balkan capital is the subject of the following bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"It was inevitable that there should be an important city on the site of Belgrade", says the bulletin. "It is situated on the angle of land between the Save and Danube at the meeting point of those two important rivers.

At the very apex of the triangle is a chalk cliff, some 200 feet high. This became a fortress and citadel as early as the third century, B. C., when Celtic tribes established Belgrade's predecessor, the town of Singidunum.

"Through the centuries that have passed since, this rock has played an important part in European affairs.

It was held successively by Celts, Romans, Huns, Goths, Bulgarians, Byzantines, Hungarians, Servians, and Austrians. One of its more important holders was the Turks. From 1521 until little more than half a century ago it was in Turkish hands, except for short periods, and was Islam's northernmost arrow aimed at the heart of Christendom. The Turkish garrison finally withdrew in 1866 when Serbia became practically independent.

"Belgrade is sometimes known by the older form, Beograd. The name means 'white city', an appropriate name, the observer feels, when he sees the white cliff of the citadel and sundry white towers and walls. Even in the days when Belgrade's streets were narrow, dirty, oriental ways, the view from across the Danube or from its waters was a charming one. The aspect of the city has changed greatly in recent years, and it has little now to distinguish it from other European capitals. Since the World War there has been a marked building boom, stimulated in part by laws holding new dwellings tax-free for 25 years, and other new structures for shorter terms. The population of the capital, drawn from a much greater area than that of pre-war Serbia, has practically doubled, being now about 200,000.

"Old Russia at times sought influence over Serbia, the blood of whose people is also Slavic. For one of the principal thoroughfares Czar Nicholas gave the paving, having it laid by Russian laborers. The street was renamed Czaritsa, and bears that name today. At 5 o'clock each afternoon police clear the street of carriages and automobiles and the promenading populace fills the space from curb to curb, many dropping into the chairs of the sidewalk cafes for coffee and conversation. It is an interesting, colorful spectacle, this afternoon parade on Czaritsa Street, with the promenaders running the gamut from peasant to man and woman of the world.

"In addition to its wars and sieges, Belgrade has had its stark tragedies:

In 1868, Prince Michael, who had brought about the evacuation of the Turks, and had given Serbia its first taste of independence for centuries, was assassinated in his garden. In 1903 King Alexander and Queen Draga of Serbia, were murdered in their palace. This structure of ill omen was demolished and a new palace built for the king of a different dynasty who succeeded".

DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE

Washington, D. C., April 23.—The United States Steel Corporation, frequently referred to as the "steel trust", one of the giant corporations so tenderly "protected" by the Fordney tariff policy of the Coolidge Administration, this week declared a stock dividend amounting to approximately $203,000,000. During 1926, the steel corporation paid cash dividends of $61,000,000, making a total of $264,000,000 in cash and stock dividends distributed by the steel trust during the last sixteen months. During 1926, its net earnings were $117,000,000.

Despite the very deplorable situation of the farmers, despite the fact that only such giant monopolies as the steel trust and the aluminum trust, owned by the family of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, are making large profits and enjoying the so-called "prosperity", the President, under the great grant of authority conveyed to him by the Fordney-McCumber tariff act, increases the expenses of the farmers and of consumers generally, bestows an added favor on the already highly protected steel trust, and increases its opportunity to add to already stupendous profits and does this for a corporation in which he is a stockholder.

The farmer's bankruptcy and the steel trust's prosperity are typical of the "Coolidge prosperity" of prosperity" of which Republican soothsayers are saying so much.

MOREHOUSE TO SEND DELEGATION TO COLUMBIA

Extensive arrangements are being made by the College of Agriculture, Columbia, to handle the largest crowd that ever attended Junior Farm and Home Week. The Thirteenth Annual Meet will be held at the College May 3-6, 1927, and is planned especially for vocational agriculture students and members of 4-H Clubs. This has assumed a definite organization and all members receive the same kind of service and opportunity for learning as that given during regular Farmers' Week. Members of the agricultural faculty give lectures, demonstrations, and instruction to boys and girls and here is where the vocational agriculture students shine. Large groups of these students in charge of the instructor attend from all sections of the State, there being now fifty-six schools north of the river and fifty-six south. They engage in various activities and contests and live stock judging. Here a live stock judging team is chosen to represent Missouri at the American Royal Show next fall. Vocational agriculture teams will be present from twenty-five states at the American Royal to be held in Kansas City next November.

Vocational schools have been carrying on a Community Improvement Contest during the past school year. Points are earned by keeping account of items and tasks performed in the home and on the farm. For example, for each project pig sold the boy earns ten points and each poultry project completed, twenty points. A large list of items based on agricultural projects has been arranged and credit is given as indicated for points earned.

The farming population is approximately 30 per cent of the total population of the country. The farmers, therefore, are paying a large part of the higher prices for products of steel made from the pig iron on which the duty has been raised. Every plow, axe or other tool or implement, every bit of steel used in the construction of house, barn or garage, costs the farmers and other consumers more as a result of this tariff. This added burden, loaded onto the farmer in order to give the steel trust protection it does not need, and which only swells its profits, increases the load under which the farmer is already staggering. While the steel trust was making these huge profits, during the twelve months ending with March 15, 1926, 123,000 farms in the country were sold under foreclosure, whilst 170,000 other farms were sold by voluntary sale. Many of the latter were sold at severe losses, because the farmers, under existing conditions, had not been able to make them pay and were unable to carry the load, any longer. During last year, according to the Department of Agriculture, the farm population of the country decreased by 640,000 persons, the greatest desertion of the farm with a single exception in more than a decade, while 1,000,000 fewer persons are living on farms now than in 1925.

Despite the very deplorable situation of the farmers, despite the fact that only such giant monopolies as the steel trust and the aluminum trust, owned by the family of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, are making large profits and enjoying the so-called "prosperity", the President, under the great grant of authority conveyed to him by the Fordney-McCumber tariff act, increases the expenses of the farmers and of consumers generally, bestows an added favor on the already highly protected steel trust, and increases its opportunity to add to already stupendous profits and does this for a corporation in which he is a stockholder.

The Pageant of the Raisin

THE raisin industry of America is mainly limited to a few counties in California, where the climatic and irrigating conditions are ideal—Fresno county producing the major portion of the crop or some 60,000,000 pounds annually. As a natural consequence the city of Fresno determined to make the most of the situation, set itself up as the Capital of Raisinland and annually celebrates the fact by holding the Pageant of the Raisin.

Pates were scratched, histories searched, the tale of the raisin unearthed and around it there was woven a story which reaches back to the Garden of Eden.

The Bible intimates that "old man Noah" planted the first grape vine near Mt. Ararat. The first dried grapes or raisins of which accurate account was found Ukevile had to do with Armenia.

The valley of the San Joaquin, reigned the Fresnoans, is "The Garden of the Sun." Therefore, why not a pageant "From the Garden of Eden to the Garden of the Sun?" Accordingly, an annual raisin day—usually during the latter part of April—was decided upon and the people of the valley set about to bring the raisin and Fresno into their own.

When King Grape, preceded by the blare of bands and accompanied by his followers, arrived in "Main Street" Fresno had become the mecca of so many people who happened in to see what all the excitement was all about that it scarcely knew what to do with them. Obviously, they "did it again" next year. Now, most folks know that Fresno is the home of the raisin.

Automobiles, like horses—and human beings, respond amazingly to kind treatment. When your car acts like a mule who thinks he's overworked, find out what you have done. Chances are a little kindness is all you need. As, for instance, putting Simpson Gasoline in the feed box.

Our gas is a highly volatile gasoline. That makes it start easily and quickly. Our gas has an even combustion range.

Hence it runs smoothly whether you are crawling through traffic or skimming over a concrete highway miles from town and motorcycle cops. Its distillation limits are fixed to give you power in abundance. It does.

Stubborn cars respond to our gas like a horse to a lump of sugar or an office boy to a baseball ticket.

Vocation Agricultural Class Takes Concrete Course

Last Thursday, Professor Bryce Edwards, Vocational Agricultural Class, took a short course in the making and use of concrete on the farm. This work was under the direction of Dave Meeker, a Farm Concrete Specialist, representing the Portland Cement Association.

According to Mr. Meeker, the 1925 farm census showed New Madrid County to have an investment in farm buildings equal to two and one-half millions of dollars. It was pointed out that this investment was depreciating rapidly due to the fact that the buildings were mostly of non-permanent material which required maintenance and repair, and that the repair and replacement of these buildings with a more permanent type of building material would be the best solution of the problem.

The classes also studied the details of making concrete on the farm. This included listing materials sand and gravel, planning concrete mixers for various kinds of work, placing, finishing and curing concrete.

Elizabeth Todd won fourth place in the typewriting contest at the Cape

Girardeau interscholastic meet.

Rev. and Mrs. Love will conduct a Sunday School Training School for teachers at the Methodist church this week. The course extends for six days. Those completing the work will be given a certificate as a trained Sunday School worker. Morehouse was fortunate in being one of only two places in the Poplar Bluff district where such schools are to be held this year.

The annual New Madrid County Track Meet which was to be held at New Madrid next Saturday has been postponed, indefinitely.

Howard Dunaway is visiting his parents, Dr. and Mrs. I. H. Dunaway. Howard's fine project work in vocational agriculture of a few year's back was described in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch of last Friday.

Mrs. Lillian Grossman gathered together a great quantity of clothes, provisions and money for the flood refugees, which was taken to Risco and turned over to the victims at that place by John Porter.

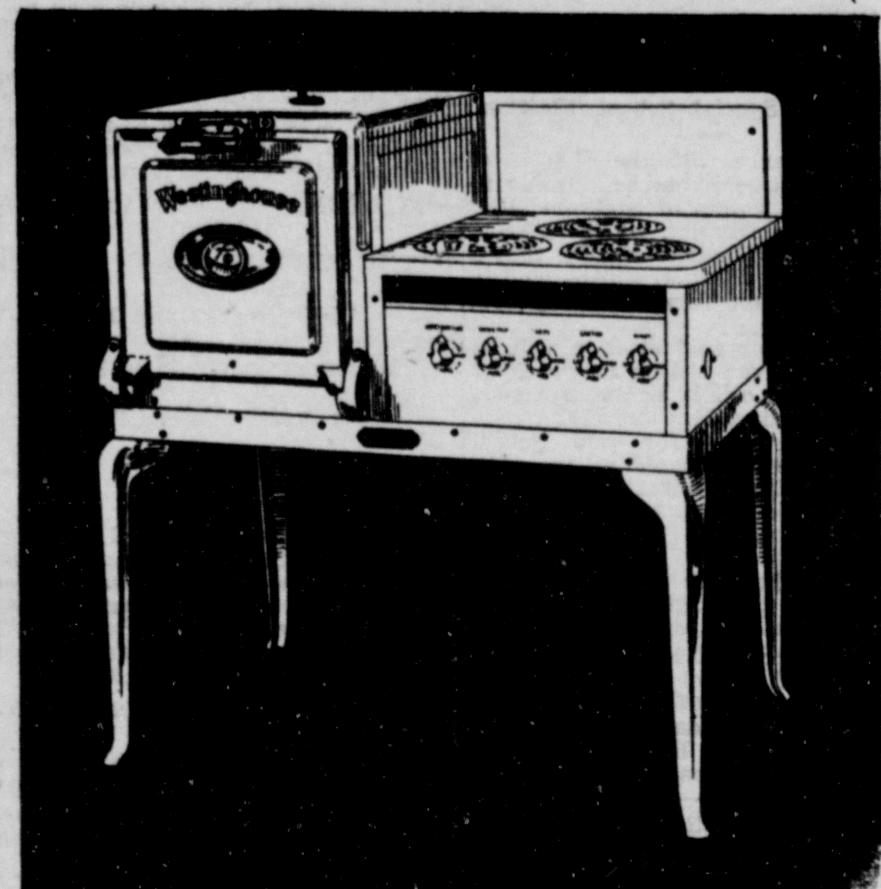

While Morehouse has escaped flood damage more than most other towns, sympathy goes out to the unfortunate ones as should by the liberal donations and the care given refugees within the town.

Mrs. Deneke of Cape Girardeau is visiting her son, W. A. Deneke and family, here.

VISITORS COME ACROSS COUNTRY AND FIND SNOW

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Pittman and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Marshall, parents and brother-in-law and sister of W. H. Pittman, arrived Sunday evening from Cape Girardeau, Missouri. The party motored the 2860 miles in ten days.

The motorists detoured muddy highways by going south on starting their trip, traveling into Tennessee, where they visited relatives overnight before going into Mississippi. In Mississippi they started west, crossing Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico and Arizona to the coast. Thus all of the water covered highways of the middle west were avoided and not a bit of trouble was encountered.

In Texas the party detoured to visit an oil field. The new oil towns, which have sprung up overnight in various places, were an interesting sight to the travelers.

The first snow, mud and stormy weather of the trip was encountered on the coast. It seemed strange to the Missourians to run into snow in California, and to find motorists along the highway near Conejo grade with their cars parked while they reveled in the snow.

Many were making hard snow balls and packing them on the running boards of their cars, to carry them back to the city, which undoubtedly seemed a queer sport to travelers from a real snow country.—A California paper.

Before You Buy Any Make of Automobile Let Us Show You Today's Ford Car

You may consider that you know the Ford Car. You may have been a Ford owner for years and think you are familiar with the splendid satisfaction which the Ford gives, and yet unless you have made it a point to examine the Ford Car as it is BUILT TODAY—to drive it and note its improved engine performance—relax in it over rough roads, and experience the increased comfort which it affords, and to learn of the many recent improvements, you do not know the Ford Car as it is built today.

Many of the new Ford Car features are obvious—balloon tire equipment—wire wheels pyrolylon finish—a choice of colors—improved upholstery, etc., but the big satisfaction to you, as the owner of Today's Ford Car is to be found in the way in which it will fulfill your expectations of what a modern motor car should be. You will be amazed at the increased power resulting from the new Vaporizer, the smoother engine operation, the increased gasoline mileage, the improved riding qualities, and above all, in the way in which this car handles and performs in traffic on the open road.

In short, you must drive a new Ford Car to be a fair judge of present-day motor car values.

SALAD SUGGESTIONS

A salad is one dish of which we never tire. One reason for this may be that it appears in such a variety of combinations.

A left-over may be used in a salad without any question as to its second appearance.

Macaroni and Celery Salad.—Take one pint of boiled macaroni which has been cut into half-inch pieces, add one pint of celery cut into the same sized pieces, add one cupful of chopped nuts and one cupful of good salad dressing. Line a salad bowl with lettuce and heap into it the salad mixture. Chill and serve. This will serve eight portions.

Tomato and Cheese Salad.—Arrange small cups made from tomatoes on lettuce leaves, fill with cream cheese which has been seasoned well and mixed with chopped nuts. Add a spoonful of mayonnaise at the side of the dish.

Combination Salad.—When one has a little celery, a half cupful or less of crisp tender cabbage, cut the celery, add the cabbage (shredded), an apple finely diced, and a bit of red pepper or green if at hand, a tablespoonful of scraped onion; mix all with a good mayonnaise or well-seasoned boiled dressing and serve on lettuce.

Hot Potato Salad.—Wash six medium-sized potatoes and cook in boiling salted water until soft. Cool, remove the skins and cut into thin slices or cubes. Cover the bottom of a baking dish with potatoes, season with salt, pepper, sprinkle with finely chopped parsley. Mix two tablespoonfuls each of tarragon and cider vinegar and four tablespoonfuls of olive oil; add one slice of onion cut one-third of an inch thick. Bring to the boiling point, pour over the potatoes, cover, let stand in the oven until thoroughly hot.

Celery and Cabbage Salad.—Cut the outside leaves from a firm, hard head of cabbage. Cut out the center and shred with a sharp knife

Sikeston Standard,
Dear Sir:

In your issue of April 22, you say, "I wonder if our Constable and our Justices of the Peace keep a record of all their transactions in the way of fines, collections and dismissals. If so, we would like to see the records".

I can only answer your query as to myself, and will say there are files and records in this office for all the court cases, civil or criminal, that has been brought in court. These records are public records open for the inspection of any citizen who would care to examine them. I cannot answer for the Constable and police. If they create record in a place where it cannot be recorded, you certainly would not hold the Justices of the Peace responsible for a record created out of court, and of which we have no knowledge.

I believe you have asked the wrong question in order to obtain the information sought. However, I believe your question is relative therefore I am not going to overrule it. And in the future permit you to lead the witness on cross examination if you care to. But be careful and don't ask questions that have no relation to the case in hand.—Jos. W. Myers.

Eleanor Hayne of Cooperstown, New York, has twelve living grandparents, consisting of two grandmothers, four great-grandmothers, two great-great-grandmothers, two grandfathers and two great-great-grandfathers.

Have lots of Saturday or week-end picnics this spring if you own a car. Take the whole family along. Keep a special box or picnic kit equipped with paper or unbreakable plates, cups, silver, paper napkins and waxed paper. Then a lunch can be packed up in no time at all and put together after the picnic spot is reached.

A great number of seines and nets confiscated by the department will be used in this particular work. All fish rescued will be placed in living waters.

Don't forget your Mother with a floral offering on May 8.

This is not the time for the man who wants to get rich quick to invest in an orchard nor to plant one. The commercial fruit grower needs to take the best care of his trees and market his fruit most carefully if he is to realize even moderate profits for the next few years. The consumer has the best of it just now and ought to cultivate the fruit habit. It will be good for his health and is the cheapest and best combination of food and tonic.

Last fall a firm of California potato growers harvested an average of 1000 bushels of potatoes per acre from 9 acres. The rest of the country, if previous production records are a reliable index, harvested approximately 113 bushels to the acre. Farmers in Great Britain have been producing an average of 200 bushels per acre for a number of years. It is evident, says the United States Department of Agriculture, that the general run of farmers who grow potatoes in the United States do not make efficient use of the available knowledge on increasing acre production.

Will trade 100-acre farm near Hillsboro, Mo., 39 miles from St. Louis. Has 4-room house, barn, orchard, half in cultivation. Good for truck or stock farm. Will trade for improved farm around Sikeston.—Joe Madlener, 2413 Switzer Avenue Jennings, Mo. 3t.

STATE TO RESCUE FISH
FROM RECEDING WATERS

Preparations are now being made by the Game and Fish Department for the most extensive fish rescue program ever attempted, announcement was made by Keith McCanse, Game and Fish Commissioner.

As a result of the flooded conditions of Missouri's streams, thousands of fish will be left stranded in pools adjacent to the rivers when the water recedes. These fish are to be rescued under direction of the protection and hatchery divisions of the department.

A thorough survey of flooded conditions is now being made by wardens throughout the state and plans for rescue operations made. Work of this nature, which has been in progress for the past two years, has been one of the features of department activities and it has saved to the sportsmen thousands of fish that would otherwise have perished.

CINDERELLA TO BE GIVEN
BY SIXTH GRADE PUPILS

The operetta to be given Thursday, May 5 by the Fifth and Sixth grades is taken from the well known fairy tale, "Cinderella". It is entitled "The Maid and the Golden Slipper".

The fairies sing of joy until the Fairy Godmother tells them of the sad lot of Cinderella, who has a wicked step-mother and two jealous step-sisters.

They all wish to help her, and the Godmother tells them of the ball which is to be given by the Prince and how with their aid and that of Cupid, she intends to let Cinderella attend.

Cinderella helps prepare her step-sisters for the ball, then she is left alone in the kitchen.

The Godmother appears and magically changes Cinderella's rags to a beautiful yellow gown and gives her golden slippers, but with the warning to leave before the clock strikes 12.

At the ball, the prince under the spell of Cupid, falls in love with Cinderella, who escapes just as the clock strikes. In her haste, she loses one slipper. After a long search, the prince finds the owner of the slipper and all end happily.

The Fairy Godmother is played beautifully by Margaret Mitchell, and Mr. Cupid is portrayed by Arnold Lee. While Henrietta Moore and Nannie Belle Wilson make two very good step-sisters for the beautiful Cinderella, Dona Kathryn Myers. The Prince Charming is played by Daniel Malone. He is attended by his personal friend, the Duke, Sam Bowman.
